

IN KINSHIP Archives & Performance Fellowship

ABOUT THE ARCHIVES & PERFORMANCE FELLOWSHIP

What possibilities emerge when we look at social repair and environmental care as public, creative acts? The Archives & Performance Fellowship is a paid, year-long opportunity for four Fellows that follows the tradition of Wabanaki Guiding, connecting Native and non-Native people to place through experience, language, and story. Fellows will experiment with research and performance approaches to understand stories and histories of the Penobscot River and watershed. They will collaborate to create new work, inspired by their learning, that addresses ecological recovery and social justice. Fellowship activities will be led by Penobscot Nation partners and will center indigenous knowledge and experience.

The fellowship year will include:

A regular check-in schedule

Workshops and skill-shares

Two intensives that immerse Fellows in research and performance methods

A public performance and/or presentation of the work created

Fellows will receive:

$1500 stipend

Dramaturgical & research support

Connections with the broader In Kinship community

Photo and video process documentation

Space to present new work

APPLY!

For application information, please visit openwaters.org/fellowship

Produced by Open Waters (openwaters.org), In Kinship is a multi-year community art and performance project that looks at how we connect and care for each other within the Penobscot River Watershed ecosystem.